

Working Forest Conservation Easements A Workshop for Farmers and Woodland Owners

March 4, 2017

West Greenwich Community Center, W. Greenwich, RI

Program

8:30 - 9:00

Registration & Coffee

Co-Sponsored By:

Welcome & Introductions

William Fortune, President, RIFCO

Conservation Easements—The Basics of a Conservation Tool

Michelle Sheehan, RI DEM

Working Forests and Conservation Easements

Richard Blodgett, Manager of Envir. Resources,
Providence Water, Scituate, RI

Case Studies & Experiences: Panel of Woodland Owners, Farmers, and others with personal experience selling CE's, working the forest, and participating in federal and state programs. Includes Tom Angell of Scituate, Kevin Breene of West Greenwich, and RIFCO.

Yes, Please register me for the March 4, 2017 Conservation Easement Workshop

Name: _____

Address: _____

Town: _____

State: _____ Zip: _____

Phone: _____

E-mail: _____

Please make your check payable to RIFCO, and mail with this form to:

RIFCO PO Box 53, No. Scituate, RI 02857

Registration and fee of $20.00 for RIFCO members and $25.00 for non-members is required by Feb. 28, 2017 to reserve your spot. Space is limited, so register today. Registration fee covers up to two people of the same family.

You can also register online with PayPal at www.rifco.org

Please call us at 401-568-3421 if you have any questions or late registrations.

Are you interested in protecting your woodlot and farmland for the future?

Do you want your heirs to be able to manage its resources?
To harvest wood and crops, and still own the land?

Then you should attend this upcoming workshop:

Working Forest Conservation Easements
A Workshop for Woodland Owners and Farmers

March 4, 2017 9 am until noon
West Greenwich Community Center, Louttit Library,
Victory Highway, W. Greenwich, RI

RETURN SERVICE REQUESTED

NON-PROFIT
US POSTAGE
PAID
PROVIDENCE, RI
PERMIT #2259

RI Forest Conservator's Organization
PO Box 53
No. Scituate, RI 02857

